Part 4—Putting policy into practice (p66)

12. Everybody has a role to play (p66)

WA Health is compiling a list of useful online resources which will provide practical guidance for putting the HPSF into action. For example, resources could include best practice guidelines and frameworks for promoting health in schools, workplaces or local governments, or provide advice on public health planning, program development or advocacy.

The resources need to be current, authoritative, and freely available.

a) Are there any resources you would like to suggest for inclusion?

Yes  No

Details:

As an additional tool to help support implementation of the HPSF, WA Health is considering compiling case studies which illustrate good health promotion practice in action.

Preference would be given to examples which have been written up and undergone some process of formal evaluation.

b) Are you aware of any case studies from your area of work which could be interesting and helpful to other people working in the field?

Yes  No
